Introduction

This is a brief collection of information regarding the design specification assignment

Overview

We met as a team and discussed a great deal of what our plans were for our project. Overall, it seemed productive.

Summary

Having the in-class time for discussion, as well as having our scheduled meeting on Friday was very helpful. Everyone looked to be paying attention and provided helpful input when possible. As for the design specification and our timeline, we came to a consensus in that we should focus on building the core of the application before anything else.
